Summer School

ACADEMIC FREEDOM IN TIMES OF WAR

Join us this summer for an engaging exploration of the critical topic of Academic Freedom in Times of War! This interdisciplinary program will address the challenges faced by academia during times of conflict, examining the impact on research, teaching, and intellectual freedom. Through lectures, discussions, and group works, participants will gain a deeper understanding of the importance of protecting academic freedom, even under the most challenging circumstances. Open to students from diverse academic backgrounds, this summer school offers a unique opportunity to delve into the intersection of academic freedom, ethics, and societal upheaval.

The Summer School is organized within the Erasmus+ Project “Promoting Academic Freedom in Ukraine (FreeAc)” and will bring together students from Ukraine, Austria, Poland, Italy and Greece to learn about freedom of academia and engage in critical discussions about the importance of the freedom to teach, learn and research in particular in times of war.
